THE LIFE CHANGING MAGIC OF SHOWING UP

There is an old saying most often attributed to Woody Allen that "90% of life is showing up." The number varies based on the memory of the person reciting the quote, but the idea is that the balance of life is about being present.

Even in this age of the Internet, one of the best ways to grow your level of happiness (or business or improve your hobby) is to show up - live and in person - in a few expected, and even more unexpected places.

Learn where and how to show up to accomplish what makes you happiest and have fun doing it.

ABOUT ROBIN

Robin Colucci helps consultants, coaches, and CEO Founders write and publish books that grow their business and further their cause. By integrating sound business strategy into every aspect of the process, she has helped clients double or triple their incomes within a few weeks of beginning work together, long before the book is out. Her clients have been published by major houses such as Random House, Doubleday, J. Wiley & Sons, Hay House, etc., and others have self-published. Robin is also Managing Director of eWomen Network's New Haven/Shoreline East Chapter. She has two kids in college and lives in Old Lyme, CT with her pug.
